

Land and Agrarian Reform in Zimbabwe

This book is a product of CODESRIA National Working Group on Zimbabwe

Land and Agrarian Reform in Zimbabwe
Beyond White-Settler Capitalism

Edited by

Sam Moyo
Walter Chambati

African Institute for Agrarian Studies
HARARE

Council for the Development of Social Science Research in Africa
DAKAR

© CODESRIA 2013

Council for the Development of Social Science Research in Africa
Avenue Cheikh Anta Diop, Angle Canal IV
BP 3304 Dakar, CP 18524, Senegal
Website: www.codesria.org

ISBN: 978-2-86978-553-3

All rights reserved. No part of this publication may be reproduced or transmitted in any form or by any means, electronic or mechanical, including photocopy, recording or any information storage or retrieval system without prior permission from CODESRIA.

Typesetting: Alpha Ousmane Dia
Cover Design: Ibrahima Fofana

Distributed in Africa by CODESRIA
Distributed elsewhere by African Books Collective, Oxford, UK
Website: www.africanbookscollective.com

The Council for the Development of Social Science Research in Africa (CODESRIA) is an independent organisation whose principal objectives are to facilitate research, promote research-based publishing and create multiple forums geared towards the exchange of views and information among African researchers. All these are aimed at reducing the fragmentation of research in the continent through the creation of thematic research networks that cut across linguistic and regional boundaries.

CODESRIA publishes Africa Development, the longest standing Africa based social science journal; Afrika Zamani, a journal of history; the African Sociological Review; the African Journal of International Affairs; Africa Review of Books and the Journal of Higher Education in Africa. The Council also co-publishes the Africa Media Review; Identity, Culture and Politics: An Afro-Asian Dialogue; The African Anthropologist and the Afro-Arab Selections for Social Sciences. The results of its research and other activities are also disseminated through its Working Paper Series, Green Book Series, Monograph Series, Book Series, Policy Briefs and the CODESRIA Bulletin. Select CODESRIA publications are also accessible online at www.codesria.org.

CODESRIA would like to express its gratitude to the Swedish International Development Cooperation Agency (SIDA/SAREC), the International Development Research Centre (IDRC), the Ford Foundation, the MacArthur Foundation, the Carnegie Corporation, the Norwegian Agency for Development Cooperation (NORAD), the Danish Agency for International Development (DANIDA), the French Ministry of Cooperation, the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP), the Netherlands Ministry of Foreign Affairs, the Rockefeller Foundation, FINIDA, the Canadian International Development Agency (CIDA), the Open Society Foundations (OSFs), TrustAfrica, UN/UNICEF, the African Capacity Building Foundation (ACBF) and the Government of Senegal for supporting its research, training and publication programmes.

Contents

List of Abbreviations	vii
List of Table, Figures and Boxes	ix
Acknowledgements	xi
Notes on Contributors	xiii
1. Introduction: Roots of the Fast Track Land Reform Sam Moyo and Walter Chambati	1
2. Land Reform and Redistribution in Zimbabwe Since 1980 Sam Moyo	29
3. A decade of Zimbabwe's Land Revolution: The Politics of the War Veteran Vanguard Zvakanyorwa Wilbert Sadomba	79
4. Nyabira-Mazowe War Veterans' Association: A Microcosm of the National Land Occupation Movement Louis Masuko	123
5. Changing Agrarian Labour Relations after Land Reform in Zimbabwe Walter Chambati	157
6. Changing Agrarian Relations after Redistributive Land Reform in Zimbabwe Sam Moyo and Ndabezinble Nyoni	195
7. Social Organisation in the Aftermath of 'Fast Track': An Analysis of Emerging Forms of Local Authority, Platforms of Mobilisation and Local Cooperation Tendai Murisa	251
8. Media Framing of Land Reform in Zimbabwe Tendai Chari	291
9. The Zimbabwe Model: Radicalisation, Reform and Resistance Sam Moyo and Paris Yeros	331

List of Abbreviations

A1	small-scale family farms
A2	smaller-sized capitalist farms
AIAS	African Institute for Agrarian Studies
ARDA	Agricultural and Rural Development Authority
AREX	Department of Agricultural Research and Extension
ASPEF	Agricultural Sector Productivity Enhancement Facility
BIPPA	Bilateral Investment Protection and Promotion Agreement
CA	Communal Area
CFU	Commercial Farmers Union
CSC	Cold Storage Commission
CSO	Central Statistical Office
DCC	District Coordination Committee
DTZ	Development Trust of Zimbabwe
ESAP	Economic Structural Adjustment Programme
FAO	Food and Agriculture Organization (United Nations)
FCTZ	Farm Community Trust of Zimbabwe
FTLRP	Fast Track Land Reform Programme
GAPWUZ	General Plantation and Agriculture Workers Union of Zimbabwe
GMB	Grain Marketing Board
GoZ	Government of Zimbabwe
IMF	International Monetary Fund
ISI	Import Substitution Industrialisation
JAG	Justice for Agriculture
LSCF	Large-Scale Commercial Farms
MAEMI	Ministry of Agricultural Engineering, Mechanisation and Irrigation
MAMID	Ministry of Agriculture, Mechanisation and Irrigation Development
MDC	Movement for Democratic Change
MLLR	Ministry of Lands and Rural Resettlement
NCA	National Constitutional Assembly

NGO	Non Governmental Organisation
NRA	New Resettlement Area
PDL	Poverty Datum Line
RBZ	Reserve Bank of Zimbabwe
RDC	Rural District Council
SADC	Southern African Development Community
SSCF	Small-Scale Commercial Farms
UNDP	United Nations Development Programme
USAID	United States of America Aid
ZANU-PF	Zimbabwe African National Union-Patriotic Front
ZCTU	Zimbabwe Congress of Trade Unions
ZIPRA	Zimbabwe People's Revolutionary Army
ZNLWVA	Zimbabwe National Liberation War Veterans Association
ZRP	Zimbabwe Republic Police

List of Tables, Figures and Boxes

Tables

Table 2.1 – Periodisation of the Fast Track Land Reform Programme 2000-2012	36
Table 2.2 – Structure of agricultural landholdings and farms, 1980 to 2010	43
Table 4.1 – Class structure of the NMWVA farm occupiers and land beneficiaries	128
Table 4.2 – Origin of land occupiers: NMWVA and national	129
Table 4.3 – Source of information on land occupations: NMWVA and national sample	134
Table 4.4 – Land ownership prior to occupation	142
Table 4.5 – Selective allocation of land by the District Land Committee	142
Table 4.6 – Year when last meeting of the association was attended	146
Table 5.1 – Changing agrarian (labour) policy regime, 2000-2011.....	163
Table 5.2 – Changing Agrarian Employment Structure, 2000-2010.....	167
Table 5.3 – Emergent Structure of Rural Labour in New Resettlement Areas	175
Table 5.4 – Labour Intensities by Farm Sizes.....	175
Table 5.5 – Level of labour use vs. capital intensity.....	178
Table 6.1 – Agrarian structure: estimated landholdings from 1980 to 2010.....	202
Table 6.2 – Coverage of RBZ agricultural financing schemes.....	206
Table 6.3 – Agricultural production trends (crops 000 tonnes): 1990s average versus 2000s.....	212
Table 6.4 – Estate agro-fuel production.....	219
Table 6.5 – Cattle numbers by farming sector: 2001 – 2012	221
Table 6.6 – Total cropped area by farm size in selected new resettlement areas.....	224
Table 6.7 – Maize seed delivery patterns, 2000 - 2011.....	228
Table 6.8 – Productive investment in newly resettled areas.....	230
Table 6.9 – Investments made by farmers – Qualified gross table (excluding shelter).....	231

Table 7.1 – Social grievances.....	261
Table 7.2 – Reasons for maintaining a Customary Area (CA) home.....	271
Table 7.3 – Cooperation between Customary (CA) and Newly Resettled Areas (NRAs).....	272
Table 7.4 – Forms of cooperation among farmers on newly resettled large-scale farms.....	274
Table 7.5 – Activity and number of groups involved.....	280

Figure

Figure 2.1 – Farm size allocations by model	63
Figure 2.2 – Classification of all A2 farm sizes.....	64
Figure 5.1 – Levels of agrarian wage labour hiring	170
Figure 5.2 – Land beneficiaries experiencing farm labour shortages.....	171
Figure 6.1 – Sub-sectoral maize production trends (1980–2010) in Zimbabwe.....	214
Figure 6.2 – Yield trends for main cereal crops.....	215
Figure 6.3 – Cereal crops output: 1990s vs. 2000s average.....	215
Figure 6.4 – Oilseed and dry beans output: 1990s vs. 2000s average.....	215
Figure 6.5 – Key exports’ output trends: 1990s average vs. 2000s.....	217
Figure 6.6 – Tea and coffee output trends in Zimbabwe.....	220
Figure 6.7 – Dairy cows, 1990 – 2011.....	221
Figure 6.8 – Small stock production.....	222
Figure 6.9 – Poultry chicks production trends	223
Figure 6.10 – Non-agricultural activities by resettled farmers.....	226
Figure 6.11 – Maize seed supply (2003-2012).....	227
Figure 6.12 – Fertiliser consumption trends.....	228
Figure 6.13 – Sub-sectoral utilisation of locally produced fertiliser.....	229
Figure 6.14 – National fertiliser supply (2001 – 2010).....	232

Boxes

Box 8.1 – Public media land headlines on regional responses.....	305
Box 8.2 – Typical private media headings.....	310
Box 8.3 – Typical headlines on the “crisis” outcome.....	319
Box 8.4 – Missing stories in the domestic and international media.....	320

Acknowledgements

We are grateful for the assistance that many people afforded us during this book project. Invaluable comments were received from various Zimbabwean researchers and activists at a workshop convened by the African Institute for Agrarian Studies (AIAS) in December 2009 in Harare. We received extensive feedback on some chapters from participants in the annual Agrarian Studies Summer School between 2009 and 2012 in Harare, Dar es Salaam and Grahamstown (Rhodes University). In this regard, special thanks are due to Issa Shivji and Ngwanza Kamata (University of Dar es Salaam), Dzodzi Tsikata (University of Ghana), Praveen Jha (Jawaharlal Nehru University), Fred Hendricks (Rhodes University), Lungisile Ntsebeza (University of Cape Town) and Marcelo Rosa and Antonadia Borges (University of Brasilia) for their critical comments.

Shepherd Siziba and Godfrey Mahofa of the Department of Agricultural Economics and Extension at the University of Zimbabwe assisted us with some of the statistical analyses. We also acknowledge the research assistance provided by AIAS interns, including Steven Mberi, Charity Dangwa and Tatenda Matengu; and the survey enumeration and data entry support provided by several undergraduate students from the University of Zimbabwe and Midlands State University. Hundreds of land reform beneficiaries and other informants gave their valuable time to respond to our interviews. We also thank Lisa María Noudéhou for the editorial support she provided.

We are also grateful to various sponsors. The Council for the Development of Social Science Research in Africa (CODESRIA) funded the convening of the National Working Group (NWG) on Zimbabwe and some follow-up field work. The baseline field surveys which provided the bulk of the empirical material for most of the chapters were generously funded by the Royal Norwegian Embassy in Harare and the W.K. Kellogg Foundation. The Canadian International Development Agency (CIDA), Trust Africa and the Open Society Initiative for Southern Africa (OSISA) funded the workshops wherein the research was debated.

As usual, the views expressed in each of the chapters are those of the authors and not those of the institutions they are affiliated to, the people mentioned above, AIAS as an institution, or the sponsors.

Notes on Contributors

Walter Chambati is a researcher at the African Institute for Agrarian Studies (AIAS) in Harare and was Future Agriculture's Consortium Research Fellow for 2011. He received a BSc. (Hons) in Agricultural Economics from the University of Zimbabwe and a Masters in Public and Development Management from the University of Witwatersrand. His research interests are in rural labour issues and agricultural development in Africa and he is studying for a doctorate at the School of Public and Development Management, University of Witwatersrand, focusing on agrarian labour changes after the land reform programme in Zimbabwe.

Tendai Chari is a media analyst and a media studies lecturer in the Department of Communication, School of Human and Social Sciences, University of Venda, South Africa. His research interests are political communication, media ethics, media and development and media policy.

Louis Masuko is a research associate at the African Institute for Agrarian Studies. He was a lecturer in economics and research with the Institute of Development Studies at the University of Zimbabwe until 2011. He is editor of Economic Policy Reforms and Meso-Scale Rural Market Changes in Zimbabwe: The Case of Shamva (1998) and has published extensively on development issues in Zimbabwe.

Sam Moyo is Executive Director of the African Institute for Agrarian Studies (AIAS), Harare and former President of the Council for the Development of Social Research in Africa (CODESRIA, 2008–11). He has taught at the Zimbabwe Institute of Development Studies, University of Zimbabwe and has served on the boards of various research institutes and non-governmental organizations, including ZERO. He is currently professor at Fort Hare University and Editor of Agrarian South: Journal of Political Economy (Sage India). He has published widely in academic journals and is the author and editor of several books, including: The land question in Zimbabwe (SAPES, 1995), Land reform under structural adjustment in Zimbabwe (Nordiska Afrikainstitutet, 2000), Reclaiming the land (Zed Books, 2005), African land questions, agrarian transitions and the state (CODESRIA, 2008); Land and sustainable development in Africa (Zed Books, 2008), Reclaiming the nation (Pluto Press, 2011) and The Agrarian Question in the Neoliberal Era (Pambazuka, 2011).

Tendai Murisa recently completed his PhD at Rhodes University. He wrote the paper included in this volume when he was a fulltime research fellow at the African Institute for Agrarian Studies in Harare, Zimbabwe. He is now a programme specialist at the Dakar-based Trust Africa, responsible for the coordination of the Pan-African Agriculture Advocacy project.

Ndabezinhle Nyoni is a research fellow at the African Institute for Agrarian Studies (AIAS). He received a BSc Agriculture (Hons) and an MPhil in Animal Science from the University of Zimbabwe. His research interests are international politics and agricultural development.

Zvakanyorwa Wilbert Sadomba is a researcher with the Centre for Applied Social Sciences (CASS) at the University of Zimbabwe. He is a rural development expert and a veteran of Zimbabwe's liberation war. He has published several journal articles and two books: War Veterans in Zimbabwe's Land Occupations: Complexities of a liberation movement in an African postcolonial settler society (2008) and War Veterans in Zimbabwe's Revolution: Challenging neo-colonialism & settler & international capital (2011). His research interest is to study the effect of African liberation movements on current societies.

Paris Yeros is Adjunct Professor International Economics at the Federal University of ABC, São Paulo, Brazil' and a research associate of AIAS. He is co-editor of Reclaiming the Land (2005) and Reclaiming the Nation (2011).